

FEMA Honors SCAPA DART

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) awards Individual and Community Preparedness Awards each year which recognize the outstanding efforts of individuals, programs, and organizations throughout the country working to prepare their communities for emergencies. These awards highlight innovative practices and campaigns that have made outstanding contributions toward making communities safer, better prepared, and more resilient. In the picture below, Rod Pharis, Co-Chair of SCAPA DART and the author of the SCAPA DARP (Disaster Airlift Response Plan) used by SCAPA and CalPilots, is congratulated by Roy Shackel, the City of Gilroy Emergency Manager. Rod and Roy are holding the certificates FEMA awarded to SCAPA DART for the FEMA 2016 Individual and Community Preparedness Awards. SCAPA DART won Honorable Mentions for Awareness to Action and Preparing the Whole Community.
